

MING LAMPSON JEWELS

The Twentieth Century Theatre in fashionable Notting Hill Gate was the venue for an exhibition of jewellery designer Ming Lampson's latest work, based around the theme of water. Nearly 300 fans of the designer drank vodka shots and champagne while they perused the pieces, which included bracelets set with white and blue sapphires, and gold and pavé diamond cufflinks. The evening was declared a huge success, with guests partying until late.

Jewellery designer Ming Lampson with Rachel Reavley (far left). Actress and model Karen Ferrari (left). Jesse Wood, son of Ronnie, with his wife Tilly (below). Minnie Driver, who is a fan of Ming's jewellery (right)

